I called it the best job I ever had—steady work, good pay, saving money—thought I was settled for life. Then—one day the machinery slipped and it was eight weeks in the hospital for mine.

Of course the company paid all the bills later, but in the meantime, say—having that money in our savings account gave me ready cash to keep my kiddies in school. Kept a lot of worry lines out of my wife's face, too. You notice I'm saving more now!

TO CHECK CRIME

Chief Field Orders Highway Police To Query Strangers.

Chief Arthur H. Field of the State highway police declared Tuesday that the reports of recent breaks committed in Maine indicate that they were the work of other than local criminals.

In a communication sent by Chief Field to all members of his force, he orders all officers to question strangers traveling the highways, and in case of any questionable character, to query the driver of the vehicle to learn his residence, destination and his business, making record of the registration of the car and operator's license. The officers may question other occupants of the machine.

"Your attention is called to the laws of 1925, which require that highway police co-operate with sheriffs and deputy sheriffs and all police officers of cities and towns in the preservation of law and order throughout the State," continues the communication.

"Highway officers are instructed to confer with heads of police headquarters in their districts, suggesting that strangers be watched and questioned. Especially between the hours of midnight and 6 a. m. highway officers shall assist the local departments in every possible way."

THOMASTON SHIP

How the "Statesman," Capt. Levensaler, Brought Emigrants From Germany To U. S. A.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Enclosed is a letter which may be of interest to your readers, as it treats of bygone days when crossing the Atlantic was a far different matter than it is today. The letter is evidently from the charterer of the ship "Statesman," to my father Caleb Levensaler, who was master of the ship and about to sail from Hamburg, Germany, Aug. 3, 1847, with emigrants. You will note on the second page how passengers of this class were fed at that time.

Raymond L. Levensaler.

Thomaston, Oct. 13.

Hamburg, 3 Aug., 1847.

Sir:—I herewith commit to your charge 204 emigrants, 145 over twelve years, 50 under twelve years and 9 babies, whom you have to convey by your ship "Statesman" from this place to New York, U. S. I take this opportunity earnestly to recommend these passengers to your care and kind treatment and hope you will do all in your power to facilitate their voyage across the Ocean, which these people are quite unaccustomed to, as also to let your Officers treat them with Humanity and Kindness. The victuals taken on board you will please to hold under your control, and have them regularly distributed according to the stipulation of the Bill of fare as marked on the other side. The provisions are of the very best, and in good quantity, so that if care is taken the people may live comfortable and happy. The water casks, Cook's utensils, and berths, and as the remainder of the provisions you will deliver truly to Mr. W. Weiser of New York. The Passage money has been insured according to the Hamburg Laws, of which you will please to take note, in case of average, which God forbid. I close with my best wishes for your quick and safe passage, and remain, sir, Yours very sincerely,

M. Valentini.

A CABINET CHANGE

Secretary of War Resigns and Is Succeeded By Dwight F. Davis.

Dwight F. Davis of Missouri was appointed Secretary of War Tuesday. He takes the place of John W. Weeks of Massachusetts whose retirement because of ill health was formally announced at the White House. The change is effective immediately.

As assistant Secretary Mr. Davis has been actually head of the War Department since last spring when Weeks was sent to New England by physicians for an operation and a long vacation.

In his letter of resignation the late cabinet member said that it had become apparent that it was necessary to greatly prolong this vacation if he is to completely regain his health. President Coolidge replied that he accepted with great regret that the Secretary's insistent request that he be permitted to lay down the official duties he assumed when the Harding administration came into office in 1921.

The new secretary, a lawyer and public man is in his fortieth year and will be the youngest member of the cabinet. He has served in the National Guard and Reserve Corps and has been an active official in various financial, educational, charitable and recreational organizations, and was the donor of the Davis Cup, the most celebrated of tennis trophies.

WATCH SPUDS JUMP

New England Crop 25 Per Cent Smaller Than Last Year.

The six New England States in company with the rest of the country, will show a big decline in the potato harvest this year, according to the forecast of the New England Crop Reporting Service at Wakefield. The total forecast for United States potatoes on Oct. 1 is 344,237,000 bushels, practically unchanged from a month ago, but 24 percent below the 454,000,000 bushel crop of last year and 18 percent below the five-year average.

"The six New England States have 42,326,000 bushels, or 25 percent less than last year and 6 percent less than their average," the report states. "A 25 percent shortage from last year caused the early potato crop to be marketed earlier than usual, thus leaving a clear field with prospects for a strong market and rising prices for the late crop."

BISHOP OF PORTLAND

Impressive Ceremonies As Rt. Rev. John Gregory Murray Is Installed.

Right Reverend John Gregory Murray was installed Monday as Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Portland which includes all of Maine.

With more than 250 members of the Catholic clergy from Maine and other parts of New England present and surrounded by members of the Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, Bishop Murray assumed the Capa Magna of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, succeeding the late Rt. Rev. Louis S. Walsh.

Preceded by a procession of distinguished clergy, which proceeded from the Episcopal residence of Congress street—which Sunday night opened its huge oak doors for the fifth time in 70 years—the ceremony at which the bishop was installed to his See was more simple than usual, as the Rt. Rev. John Gregory Murray had previously been invested as bishop, but was an occasion of exceptional impressiveness as the special liturgy was carried out.

The procession was made up of Cardinal O'Connell whose train-bearer was Thomas Craven of Portland; Bishop John Gregory Murray; Bishop Thomas F. Hickey, Rochester, N. Y.; Bishop J. S. H. Nicolet of Canada; the Rt. Rev. A. O. Gagnon, Auxiliary Bishop of Sherbrooke, P. Q.; and Auxiliary Bishop A. J. Langlois of Quebec.

With more than 250 priests from Maine and other New England States, the altar boys, robed in brilliant cass

OLD-TIME MATHEMATICS

The romance attaching to things of ancient times scarcely ever fails to make appeal. The "college letter" printed Oct. 6 in this column has drawn comment from many sources. Let us quote Miss Elizabeth Marsh of this city:

"I am so much interested in that old letter of my uncle, Gilbert Marsh, I have in my possession one of his school books, which I value for its age (1816) and because it shows such painstaking work. The little verse is suggestive of the boy mind of a hundred years ago. Uncle Gilbert was ordained a Congregational minister, but never had a parish, as he died young soon after his graduation from Andover."

The book to which our correspondent alludes is filled with the lad's demonstrations in the field of mathematics in which occur many terms now obsolete—the "rule of three direct and inverse," practice, "tare, tret and class"—with examples done in pounds, shillings and pence and similar intricacies and worked out with a detail of demonstration suggestive of the thorough-going methods of instruction characterizing the days of a century ago in Thomaston, a period which many of us are prone to look back upon with a feeling of superiority. The handsomely done copy book is the work of a boy of 15. We should be glad to meet the 15 year old boy of today who could equal it. May we consider one of its rules:

"When tare, tret and class are allowed, deduct the tare and tret as before and divide the settle by 168 and the quotient will be the class, which subtract from the settle and the remainder will be the neat."

In the application of this luminous rule we are desired to engage our faculties with the following problem:

"If 9 lbs. of tobacco contain 15 cwt., 0 qrs., 2 lb. tare, 30 lb. per hhd., tret and class as usual, what will the neat weight come to at 6 1/2 pence per lb. after deducting for duties 51 pounds, 11 shillings, 2 pence?"

There are other examples which to the modern eye appear to be even more ingeniously constructed. When any of our boy readers—yes, any reader of any age—shall present for the consideration of our subscribers the answer to this one, it will be a pleasure to let him take a crack at another of more robust qualities. The verse written on the fly-leaf of the book is the one which a writer to Philip Hale's column in the Boston Herald has recently been asking for:

Multiplication is vexation,
Division is a bad
The Rule of Three doth puzzle me
And puzzles make me mad.

Where do lobsters that by happy chance escape the entanglement of ubiquitous lobster-traps betake themselves as their size increases with age? The German diver, who from the bottom of the ocean gave us this week the first wireless broadcasting, told among other extraordinary things—we take his unsupported wireless word for it—of an engagement with a giant lobster that gave him battle, gripping him with its scissor-like claws so that even through his thick rubber glove he suffered from the encounter. Occasionally a fisherman brings into the local market a lobster of such proportions as secure for it just mention in The Courier-Gazette, but never yet have we been able to illuminate the narrative with circumstantial details of personal conflict connected with the capture. Possibly because it has been taken ignominiously in a trap and so brought helplessly to the surface. We dare say that in the deep waters off Knox County's coast there lurks many a cardinal of the sea—as the inland poet called him—grown in years and bulk beyond the imagination of landmen.

The Boston papers fill us with stories of the crimes of hold-up men, but to these slower regions to the north the crime wave had not so visibly extended itself, until the shooting in Bangor of Harry Clay startled us with the thought that every man in charge of a business place lies open to the danger of attack. There seems nothing to do but to be forewarned and forearmed for such a contingency. The gunman gives no advance warning. We hope that the Bangor case results in a speedy apprehension and such a swift administration of justice as shall tend to curb this form of criminal activity in Maine.

More than thirty million men, women and children are now served by rural free delivery, 4000 routes having been added to the system the past year. Driving to town for the mail is no longer the bugbear of the rural districts.

CITIES ARE GROWING

Chicago Now Has Nearly 3,000,000 Inhabitants; Portland 75,000.

Census bureau calculations of city populations as of July 1 this year covering a large part of the United States were made public Tuesday by the department of commerce.

New York being omitted, Chicago, with a total of 2,995,239, was the largest city listed. For Philadelphia, the bureau estimated 1,979,364; for Detroit 1,242,044; for Cleveland 936,485; for St. Louis 821,543; for Baltimore 796,296; Boston 781,529; Pittsburgh 631,563; San Francisco 557,520; Buffalo, 538,061, and Milwaukee 509,192.

These were the only cities listed which were assigned more than a half million of population. The bureau's calculations were based on the rate of increase in growth shown by the cities considered during the decade of 1910-20, except in a few cases where recent state or local census figures were available. Calculations were not made for Los Angeles, Atlanta, Akron, Oklahoma City, Norfolk, and a few other points where there was reason to believe the results would be far from correct.

Cities shown to have populations between 500,000 and half a million included Washington, D. C., 497,908; Newark 452,512; Minneapolis 425,435; New Orleans 414,493; Cincinnati 409,333; Kansas City 367,431; Indianapolis 358,819; Rochester 316,786; and Jersey City 315,280.

Above 200,000 the bureau also placed Toledo 287,380; Portland, Oregon, 259,259; Oakland 253,700; St. Paul 246,001; Omaha 211,768 and Birmingham, Ala., 205,670.

Estimates were not made for cities having less than ten thousand population, nor for communities in Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, New York, Rhode Island, South Dakota and Wyoming where state censuses have been recently taken.

Estimates for Maine were as follows: Maine: Auburn, 18,073; Augusta, 14,625; Bangor, 26,644; Bath, 17,751; Biddeford, 18,532; Lewiston, 34,932; Portland, 75,383; Sanford, 12,621; Waterville, 14,424.

RUM IN MOSCOW

How They Celebrated End of Prohibition and the Return To Vodka.

In a Moscow cable to the Boston Herald, the correspondent, Walter Duranty, says:

The wave of drunkenness that flooded Moscow at the beginning of the week to "celebrate" the end of prohibition and the restoration of vodka of pre-war strength has shown signs of abating in the last three days, but the Workers' Gazette today reports eight deaths in the city yesterday, not from the poisonous "samogon" (home brew), but a simple overdose of 40 per cent spirit. The previous day's figures are not published.

Health authorities and individual communists express confidence that the scenes witnessed in Moscow on Monday and Tuesday will not be repeated as they were due to the "celebration," accentuated by the fact that the city had been absolutely dry for several days previous, owing to the calling up of the new military class.

At the same time it is beyond question that they are worried by what has happened. The communist party organ, Pravda, prints an article sharply criticizing the popular newspaper for the "jocular and sensational" tone wherein it reported alcoholic excesses of Monday and the Workers' Gazette publishes a series of letters from communist party workers and leaders of the labor federations deploring the state of affairs.

Health Minister Semashko spoke quite frankly.

"We reintroduced vodka not because we liked the idea or as a source of revenue, but as the most powerful available weapon in the struggle against samogon. Vodka as alcohol is injurious to the human system, but samogon is literally poison—let alone the disrespect for the law its generalization induces. Between samogon and vodka it is a choice of two evils. We chose the least, but the supply must be limited more strictly. Sales must be refused to any one under the slightest influence of liquor and to persons already convicted of drunkenness. Penalties for drunkenness must be increased and readers must do their utmost by precept and example, to train the masses to reduce the consumption of alcohol."

Figures show what a curse samogon has become. In the last three years over 1,500,000 prosecutions for the sale of bootleg liquor or use of illicit stills are recorded. Total deaths due to poisonous liquor are estimated at

GOOD NEWS ALL AROUND

The net return of farmers for the year 1924-25 is placed at $212,000,000 by the Department of Agriculture, compared with 1,952,000,000 for the previous year, a net cash increase of $720,000,000. The survey included all kinds of classes of farms.

Nearly $750,000,000 added to the income of a single class of Americans means much in increased purchasing power and this reflects better times in many other lines of industry and trade. When the farmer has funds with which to purchase, factories far removed from the farming regions become busy, and wages go into the pockets of city workers who otherwise might be out of jobs.

JOHN E. HARTNETT

Another Member of Famous H. M. B. Polo Team Joins Silent Majority.

The death of John E. Hartnett, which took place Monday at his late home on Pink street, recalls the remarkable career of the H. M. B. roller polo team, of which he was a valued member, and it is the second time that death has invaded the ranks of that famous sextet, although it has been nearly 40 years since the club laid aside its sticks and uniforms.

The H. M. B. were organized about 1884 by J. M. Brown, the well known cigar manufacturer, who became captain of the team, which, as the initials would indicate was named for him.

Roller polo at that time was "all the rage" in New England, and Maine had its full quota of amateur teams—among them the Vinalhaven and Warren clubs, the F. O. B. of Bangor, the Forest Citys of Portland, the Alamedas of Bath, the Granite Citys of Hallowell and the Capital Citys of Augusta.

Best three in five was the rule then, the team making three goals first being declared the winner. A game might be long or short, depending upon the law of chance and whether the teams were evenly matched. Probably the shortest game on record was played at Vinalhaven, where the H. M. B. made three goals in 15 seconds.

Between Rockland and Bangor there was a great deal of rivalry, but the F. O. B. claims were laid low when they were beaten three straight goals on two nights running. What the late F. O. B. said to his boys after that slaughter is a matter of history.

Then there were those four heart-rending games with the Granite City of Hallowell. The first was played in the old Alameda rink at Bath, with the special train carried 700 Knox county fans. But the H. M. B. lost, as they did in the game at Augusta next night. When the Granite Citys came to the Rockland rink they were not so fortunate, and lost two in succession. This was the year that the H. M. B. won 45 games out of 50, defeating the strong professional teams from Cambridge, Salem, Somerville, Woburn, Waltham and other places. The H. M. B. defeated seven different Portland teams.

The Rockland players were: Walter Burron, first rush; John E. Hartnett, second rush; P. McAniff, cover point (the teams had six players at that time); the Edward W. McIntyre, center; H. M. Brown, half back; and Everett Chapman, goal.

Mr. Hartnett was one of the speediest players who ever toted a polo stick, and with his speed he had plenty of pluck, which was a very necessary asset in those rough and ready days. He never lost his interest in the game, and was a regular attendant at the contests which marked the recent revival. On one of these occasions he was introduced by the referee as a survivor of the H. M. B. and was given a great ovation.

The deceased was a son of the late James and Honora Hartnett. He worked many years in connection with the lime industry and had been employed by the street department. He had also served as an election official in Ward 4, since the Australian Ballot System went into effect. In sports he was a product of "McGrath's Corner"—always a devotee of clean sports. Everybody liked him, and there is much sorrow because of his passing. He is survived by two sisters, Lena and Hannah, who live at home.

Funeral services were held at St. Bernard's Church this morning.

THE WORLD SERIES

The concluding game of the World Series was not played yesterday, owing to the continuous downpour at Pittsburgh. And when this paper went to press it did not seem probable that there will be a game today. The opposing pitchers when the game is finally played will be Johnson and Aldridge, and it will be a battle royal, as each twirler has won two games in the series.

Sixth Game

Washington scored two runs in the first two innings Tuesday, but was not destined to clinch the championship, for the Pirates had the score in the third and Moore's home run gave Pittsburgh the coveted victory in the fifth. Two other hits, one by J. J. Harris and one by Burnhardt, were almost home runs. The score: Pittsburgh ..... 0 0 2 0 1 0 0 x—3
Base hits, Pittsburgh 7, Washington 6. Errors, Pittsburgh 1, Washington 2. Two-base hits, Peckinpah, Burnhardt, J. J. Harris. Home runs, Goslin, Moore. Struck out by Krenier 3, Ferguson 6.

SIX TO SIX

Rockland High and Bar Harbor High Deadlocked—Play Here Saturday.

Rockland High and Bar Harbor High battled to a 6 to 6 tie at Bar Harbor Tuesday afternoon. The day was perfect for football and both teams were in the best of condition, with Rockland the heavier team. It was a fight from start to finish and not until the last few minutes of play did Rockland get its six points which kept it from defeat.

Bar Harbor was light and fast and had many formations that the local team had hard work to break up in the first half. During the second half Rockland came to the front and outmarched the B. H. S. four to one but when the time came for the Rockland team to score the final punch was not there.

The game opened with Rockland kicking off and on the first play Bar Harbor went through tackle for 10 yards. On the next play the visitors gained but punted on the following, the ball being put in play on the 20-yard line. Rockland could gain but little and after an exchange of punts Rockland found herself in a tight place. Rockland could not seem to hold on to the ball during the game, and it was this fault that gave Bar Harbor her only chance to score, and she took advantage of it. Capt. McLoon fumbled a punt and lost the ball on the 2-yard line, and in two plays the ball was over.

Rockland then came back with lots of fight and kept it up until the final whistle. On one play Rockland threw a pass to Fifeield, who, after catching it, took at least three steps when he was tackled. As he was falling he dropped the ball and Merchant, who was on the other end, picked it up and ran 35 yards for a touchdown.

After the Bar Harbor coach said he would take his team from the field if the touchdown was allowed the referee ruled that the pass was incomplete, and the ball was given to Bar Harbor. This was enough for itself to take the heart out of any team but the Rockland boys seemed to fight harder than ever, and with Chase doing most of the carrying the ball was brought to Bar Harbor's 10-yard line. Again the B. H. S. held and it looked as if she would stop another touchdown but it was then that McLoon used his head, and with the Bar Harbor backs all playing close to the line a forward pass, Chase to Trafton, gave Rockland the six points that staved off defeat. The goal was missed, and in two minutes more the game was over.

If any players on the Rockland team stood out they were Chase in the backfield and Demmons in the line. The boys seemed tired after their long ride, which might account for the long and so many fumbles, but those that saw the game know that Rockland has a fighting team this year, even though it has a lot of new players. It is a team that anyone can be proud of.

Rockland's lineup at Bar Harbor was: Curry and Merchant left end; Birdie, Frohock, C. Wiggall and Demmons right end; Fifeield, McLoon, Chase, H. H. Trofion, Chapin and Marsh full.

Saturday at 2:30 the whistle will blow and you will have your chance to see these two teams in action at Community Park. Bar Harbor will fight to the last, and you can bet that Rockland will do the same. Rockland has the weight, but Bar Harbor has the experience, and if you want to see a real battle be on hand. Give your boys a good send off as it is their first home game. It was the spirit of the whole town that brought the Bar Harbor boys to a near victory so let's get behind our boys and help them win.

The officials for Saturday are expected to be L. C. Luce of Bangor now living in Boston, and a Central Board official; Wotton of Bowdoin head linesman and Hodgkins of Bar Harbor umpire. Game called at 2:30.

CANCELLED GAMES

Rockland-Bangor Postponed Contest Starts Football Discussion.

The following editorial from yesterday's Bangor Commercial concerns a timely topic and one in which Rockland figures.

When a week ago the football game scheduled between Rockland and Bangor at Rockland was called off by the former management, because of adverse weather conditions, the action was hailed as something new in football circles. Last Saturday, a number of games were postponed or cancelled on account of the gale, these including two college matches in this state. Wet grounds or rain always serve to prevent baseball games, horse trots or tennis matches, but football in the past has always defied weather conditions. We remember a game played by Maine and Bowdoin at Orono a few years ago, in spite of a raging snow-storm and conditions even worse than on Saturday. But last Saturday a number of games were postponed, and to us this seems the wiser course.

As a rule, if a football game is not played on the given date it is not played at all for the students have the facilities to deal with and the Saturdays that afford the only opportunities without neglect of studies are generally all occupied with scheduled games. The box office needs the receipts, and there is also disinclination to disappoint the visiting students who have come to support their team. There is also the long-standing belief that football can be played in any weather, and that the rugged athletes can defy mud, rain or snow.

From the number of cancelled games on Saturday it appears that we have reached a new era, and one that has more regard for the physical wellbeing of the players, and also of the spectators. Certainly to play on such a day as Saturday, or to stand in the cold and rain watching a game, is an invitation to pneumonia or heavy colds.

Another factor also enters in. In recent years wise athletic management is prone to take out insurance against rain, and thus the postponement or cancellation of a game does not put the dent in the finances of the home teams that would be the case without insurance.

MISSION WORKERS

Free Baptist Society Has Profitable Meeting At Mrs. Brainerd's.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, which met at the home of Mrs. Emily Brainerd, enjoyed a most interesting session. Mrs. F. J. Bicknell presented a paper on which much time and care had been given. It concerned the work of missions in India and Burma in the early days as compared with the work at the present time. She gave much of the life of Adoniram Judson, Clough, and others, of the earlier missionaries who devoted their lives to the cause. Those pioneers in the work had many hardships to meet and overcome, oppression, suspicion, persecution, imprisonment, lack of funds, learning the languages, etc., yet they persevered, and for their efforts and devotion the workers of today have much to be thankful, although they, too, have to confront many of those same problems. Mrs. Bicknell showed a napkin ring made from a portion of the hopia tree which was planted over the grave of Mrs. Ann Judson.

In connection with this paper Mrs. Cassens read that inspiring poem "The Lone Star," by Dr. Samuel F. Smith, author of the immortal hymn, "My Country 'Tis of Thee." Dr. J. Lansing's remark made at a Missionary conference in 1853, calling Nellore "A lone star," was the inspiration which caused the poem to be written and it saved a mission ship being abandoned. Mrs. Bicknell's paper was much appreciated, and all were greatly interested in its contents.

Other features of the meeting were letters from Miss Jean Gates of Hanchow, China, and Miss Clara E. Barrows of Sandoway, Burma. Mrs. Hix spoke of the building of the dormitory for boys, in South India, which is to be called the "James Perry dormitory," in commemoration of the Camden, Me., man who was killed while on duty during the World War.

Several books have been purchased and are at the disposal of those of the members of the church and society, who care to read them. Some of these books are equal to any romance ever written and one is loath to lay them down until the last pages are reached.

STRAND THEATRE

Billy Hall and his clever company of Charleston dancers appear again at the Strand today, in which Wallace Hall and Dot Stevens dance the new Fox Trot Charleston. In the final chorus the girls wear colored wigs, the newest Parisian craze. The added feature picture is "Scandal Street," with Madge Kennedy and Niles Welch.

Tomorrow and Saturday there will be a brand new show with entire change of costumes, scenery, lighting effects, etc.

Young Wallace Hall and the girls will introduce a new novelty dance. Billy will pass out some new bits and Roy Chester, the straight man, will render some innovations of songs and dances. Added feature picture "Bread of the Border," with Lefty Flynn.

There will be three shows on Saturday. Matinee 2, evening 6 and 8:30. Reserved seats. Popular prices.—adv.

"COAST OF FOLLY"

"The Coast of Folly," Gloria Swanson's latest starring picture for Paramount, which will be the feature at Park Theatre today and Friday, has an American background of the aristocracy of wealth as best exemplified in the exclusive orbit of Palm Beach, the "coast of folly," and New York. In the prologue to "The Coast of Folly," Nadine Gathaway, a young, beautiful and tempestuous girl is married to a middle-aged millionaire who is prosy and narrow by nature. Bored by the dull rigidity of her married life she deserts him and her baby, faring forth in the world to seek romance her heart craves. But mother love triumphs in the end. Years later after a colorful career, she is drawn irresistibly to her daughter when the latter becomes involved in a difficulty.

Rockland's radio sets have worked overtime the past seven days while the details of the most wonderful World's Series in the history of the national game were being disseminated. The quality of the reception varied in different parts of the city, as it always does, but there were a few who claim to have got "every word of it." From which it will be seen that fiction still has the upper hand of truth.

Thomas Hawken hits the South-bound trail next Tuesday with Austin, Texas, as his destination. The report that he was already there proves to have been "grossly exaggerated."

The first home football game of the season will be played at Community Park Saturday afternoon at 2.30. Rockland High has given a very good account of itself in the two games away from home, defeating Belfast 18 to 13, and holding Bar Harbor to a 6 to 6 tie. Bar Harbor is the team which comes here Saturday—a splendidly coached aggregation, which has all sorts of tricks up its sleeve. But if you want to see a team full of fight and pep cast your peepers on Coach Jones' Rockland boys.

L. E. Mogue representing the Estey Organ Co. was in the city Monday for the purpose of tuning the organ at the First Baptist church. These visits of a skilled workman are made twice a year, spring and fall, under contract with the church, the purpose being to correct any trouble that may have developed and keep the organ in tune. A church organ is a highly delicate instrument, keenly susceptible to the varying temperatures of a church auditorium, and only by constant supervision can it be kept in proper condition. Every manufacturer realizes this fact, and maintains a field staff for such work whose services are available under a yearly contract at a moderate fee.

"Fourth down one yard to go!" Just supposing that is the situation at Community Park Saturday afternoon with the ball in Rockland's possession, and that one yard is all that stands between the Rockland line and a touchdown at Bar Harbor's expense. Not going to miss that opening game, are you? Certainly not!

The 6th annual ball of the Veteran Firemen's Association will be held in the Arcade tomorrow night, with music by Clark's Orchestra. There will be both round and square dances, numbering 14 in all. Chief Engineer Haverer will have charge of the floor. The committee in charge of the dance is headed by George Doak, whose associates are Charles H. Nye, Jr., Charles Staples, Charles M. Lawry and Harding Gray. The "Vets" always give their patrons a good time.

Gen. James A. Drain, past national commander of the American Legion, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Calderwood's Neck, Vinalhaven, where he will make a fortnight's stay at the Alton T. Roberts summer home. Because Gen. Drain is in ill health and seeking a rest, his arrival here was marked by no demonstration. Winslow-Holbrook Post would very gladly have sent a delegation to greet him. The General was accompanied by Mrs. Drain and Mrs. Alton T. Roberts.

The authorities are looking for William Doucette, who came to this city recently from Woburn, Mass., and was employed by the Union Paint Co. He lodged at the home of Mrs. Gardner Wheeler on Pleasant street, who told the police that he owed her $8 when he left there, and that $35 was missing. Miss Frances Wheeler's purse at the same time. On the night of his departure a gold watch and two rings were stolen from a store in Camden. A warrant is said to be out for him in Woburn.

Whenever Ben Collamore and Gus Rankin get together these days it is to discuss the wonderful vacation trip they had the latter part of the summer, motoring through four New England States and enjoying the grandeur of the White Mountains and Mohawk Trail. They carried a camping outfit and enjoyed life in the open, with beetles and onions as their most popular form of diet. With no time to worry about these two veteran free lances went where they wanted to, and didn't have to take "sass" from anybody. A good time? Ask either of them.

A visitor in the city yesterday was Henry F. Kallach, the well-known "Tenant's Harbor merchant and prominent citizen of that southern part of Knox County. Next Sunday, he said, will see his 33d birthday anniversary—and it may be added that it will see him at church, for he is one of the staunch leaders of that Baptist religion and for many years has served as deacon in the local church. It was 34 years ago that he engaged in business upon his own account, with a cash capital of $400, two hundred of which was borrowed. What old-fashioned New England thrift, honesty, dealing and attention to business can accomplish is shown by the growth and prosperity of the lumber and grocery business now carried on under the firm style of H. F. Kallach & Co., the junior partner of which is Elmer E. Allen, who has been associated with the business as clerk and partner for 25 years.

While my own success has been very mediocre by comparison with some others it is nevertheless gratifying to feel that old friends are interested. In these days when news of scandal and crime seem to occupy so much space in news newspapers, it is also worthy of note that your paper gives much space to progressive movements like the Kennebec Bridge and other similar propositions for the further development of Maine and the advancement of its people."

Bath Iron Works In Hands of New Owners, Who Mean Business, They Say.

A check for $203,100 for the plant, merchandise and equipment of the Bath Iron Works, Ltd., was paid Saturday to the receivers by Ralph O. Dale, attorney representing a New York syndicate that purchased the plant at the public auction conducted by the receivers Sept. 24. The plant at that time was sold to them for $193,000 and the merchandise and equipment for $25,000, the upset price. Before the sale opened Mr. Dale furnished the receivers with two checks as a guarantee of good faith from his clients, $10,000 on the plant and $5000 on the merchandise. This was turned in toward the purchase price of $218,100 and Tuesday's check represented the balance. The receivers were ex-Gov. William T. Cobb of Rockland, president since the iron works were sold July 11, 1917, by the estate of the late John S. Hyde to a Maine syndicate, George C. Wing, Jr., of Auburn and James C. Boyd of Portland.

Theodore Friedberg of New York, who heads the syndicate, announced Saturday that the plant is not for sale at the present time at any price. Mr. Friedberg said it is his intention to continue the plant as a going concern and it is not unlikely that efforts will be made to get varied industries to locate there.

My EUROPEAN EXCURSIONS

By Edwin Robert Petre

Ask anyone in Europe who knows where the Hay Fever Fraternity live most happily and you will nearly always be told of the little Swiss mountain village with the Italian name—Pontresina. Its dust free air, short grass and aromatic pine-woods have given it a fame among visitors who never before sought Switzerland as a vacation land. Pontresina is the chief climbing center of the Upper Engadine, and about a hundred miles of paths stretch in all directions through the woods and over mountain slopes. I think that two of the loveliest walks in Switzerland are the path by the Pontresina Gorge through the forest, and the ramble from Sansoulet to the Languard Waterfalls.

McFARLAND IS READY TO TELL EVERYTHING

"I Don't Believe Anybody Could Feel Better Than I Do Since Taking Karnak," Says Portland Man.

As thousands of people throughout Maine and New Hampshire purchase Karnak, the sensational medicine on sale here at the Corner Drug Store, new and interesting facts regarding its remarkable powers are brought to light. Not only are stubborn cases of stomach trouble, dyspepsia, rheumatism, liver and kidney disorders, and other ailments of a chronic nature being quickly overcome, but also scores of people who have had colds, grippe, influenza, and who have been in a general rundown condition, are reporting an immediate return to health and strength by its use.

As evidence of this fact take the statement of Earl S. McFarland, well known railway clerk, 10 D street, Portland, Me., who says:

"This Karnak is so far ahead of all other medicine I ever used that there is no room for comparison.

"How come me to take this new medicine was that I got hold of something to eat that poisoned me, and I lost weight so fast that we all became frightened. In a week's time I was down to one hundred and thirty-four pounds, and on top of this I contracted a severe cold. I was in such a weakened condition that I could not throw off the cold or recover from the poisoning. I was not eating anything and could hardly get around.

"I went over to the drug store one day and got a bottle of Karnak and on the very first bottle I gained three pounds. In two weeks' time I had gained eight pounds and had thrown off the heavy cold completely. I got my appetite back again and could feel myself getting stronger every day. Since taking five bottles I now weigh one hundred and forty-six pounds, and feel like my old self in every respect. My stomach is in perfect condition and I don't believe anybody could feel better than I do now.

Yes, sir, I'm ready to tell everybody what Karnak has done for me."

Karnak is sold in Rockland exclusively by the Corner Drug Store; in Thomaston by McDonald's Rexa Store; in Union by Gordon-Lovejoy; in Camden by Chandler's Pharmacy; and by the leading Druggist in every town.—adv.

ROCKPORT

Capt. and Mrs. Ernest Torrey were in Northport Tuesday.

Maynard Ingraham and family have moved from Mrs. Mary Thurston's home on Spruce street to a part of Mrs. Mary Hanson's house on Commercial street.

Mr. Mary Brann and Miss Cora Robbins were guests of Miss Lillian Brann in Livermore Falls Sunday.

George Turner and family are occupying the Robinson house on Pleasant street.

Miss Frances B. Adams, evangelist, who is conducting services at the Methodist church this week is the guest of Miss Marion Weidman.

Frank Jones and family have moved from Mrs. Cora Wentworth's house on Union street to Capt. Ernest Torrey's house on Church street.

A special meeting of St. Paul's Lodge, F. & A. M., was held Monday evening. Degrees were conferred.

Mrs. L. H. Young of Owl's Head was in town Tuesday the guest of Mrs. D. A. Whitmore.

RAZORVILLE

The many friends of Mrs. Lucy Nash of Reno, Nevada, formerly of this town, will be sorry to learn that she has passed away at the home of her niece Mrs. Blanche Staley where she went to live some three years ago and where she was very tenderly cared for in her last years, having all the comforts of life that heart could wish.

Mrs. Nash was born in Palermo in 1842 and was the daughter of the late Levi Turner.

Saturday was one of the roughest days experienced here for a long time. It began snowing in the morning about 7 o'clock and kept it up at intervals until late into the night, accompanied by a gale from the northeast.

Had the ground been frozen there would have been at least six inches of snow. This is extremely early for such a hard snow storm, and seems only a short time since the terrific blizzard that came the 26th of last April when all roads were impassable for a few days.

Warner L. Carver of Boston, Mass., New England Superintendent of the American Sunday School Union, who has been the guest of Missionary and Mrs. Overlock for the past few days, left for Augusta Monday.

The early winter of Saturday and the bad freeze of Sunday night gathered many with their apples not yet taken care of.

Harold Page of Damariscotta was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Overlock Monday.

HOPE

The storm of Saturday and Sunday was rather rough on the ungathered fruit and vegetables and will no doubt result in much loss to the farmers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Brown and sons Walter and David of Waltham, Mass., motored through Saturday to spend the holiday at their cottage and make arrangements for their apple gathering and shipping.

L. A. Weaver is having two attractive signs placed on his store and the postoffice thereby adding to the general improvement.

A. F. Duntion and son carried away four blue and four red ribbons as the result of their fruit exhibit at the Lincolnville Fair last week.

Miss Dorothy Ludwig spent a few days last week with her mother, Mrs. W. E. Wellman, in South Hope.

Apple gathering appears to be the favorite outdoor sport just at present.

Who made the awful mistake of backing their car into the poor old town pump, and pulling it out, root and branch?

W. S. Wilder of Boston was a weekend guest of his mother, Mrs. Rose Wilder and other relatives, returning home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. True recently entertained an auto party of Haverhill, Mass. friends.

NORTH WALDOBORO

Mrs. T. H. Fernald of Wogwich is at her cottage here.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Creamer of the village, and Misses Addie and Verna Creamer of Dutch Neck were callers at Albert Gentner's Sunday.

Mrs. Nellie Wallace is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howarth in Camden.

G. Hamlin Scofield was a Sunday visitor at Thomas Creamer's, Dutch Neck.

Miss Shirley Winslow of Portland spent the weekend at E. R. Burns'.

If reports are true, about all necessary to make the Chicago fall an ideal place for the bootlegger and vacation is a golf course and a stadium.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

WALDOBORO

Mrs. Herman Nash was at home from Rockland Monday, where she and Mr. Nash are passing a month.

W. H. Brooks is in Montclair, N. J.

Rev. Guy McQuade has returned from an evangelistic tour of Vermont.

The Cemetery meeting, which was to have been held at Mrs. Luella Deoster's, was postponed on account of the storm. It will be held Saturday afternoon at the same place.

Mrs. Walter H. Boggs has received news of the death of her brother, Charles Brown, who was killed by a train in Milwaukee, Wis.

Mr. Brown was a former resident of Waldoboro.

Mrs. Alexia Greag of New Brunswick is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. F. Bond.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Benner, Mrs. Earle Benner, Mrs. E. H. Whitcomb and Miss Laura Whitcomb motored to Orono Sunday.

Mrs. Asa L. Moody is the guest of her daughter in Waterville.

Mr. and Mrs. Royce Shuman have been guests at James Steele's.

Capt. and Mrs. James Creighton of Thomaston were at Capt. Millard Wade's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clarke have been in Bar Harbor for a few days.

Mrs. Ozora Turner of Thomaston was at G. J. Kuhn's Sunday.

Miss Isabelle Waltz attended the Maine Music Festival in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Faurenkham and three children of Crystal, N. H., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rafuse recently.

The installation of the officers of King Solomon's Lodge, F. & A. M., occurs Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Officers will be installed by P. D. D. Thomas L. Richards and a program will be given during the evening.

The affair will be semi-public.

Wiwuna Chapter, O. E. S., had as guests Tuesday evening, Orient Chapter of Union, Penmaquid Chapter of Bristol, and Lakeview Chapter of Jefferson.

Mrs. Julia A. Vickery of Belfast, Grand Matron, made her official visit and she was presented with a beautiful crepe de chine scarf. Three candidates were admitted to membership. Supper was served at 6 o'clock. Tonight members of Pogonia Chapter are guests of Pogonia Chapter, South Bristol.

LEONARD A. HEYER

Leonard A. Hoyer, whose sudden death at his home in Wilmot, N. H., shocked the community was born in Waldoboro. He was the great-grandson of Conrad Hoyer, who when the Revolutionary War broke out sailed in a coaster to Boston and enlisted under Washington.

Later he became one of Washington's bodyguards and crossed the Delaware in the same boat with the great commander. Conrad served long and faithfully in the army, and helped to build the fortification at Ticonderoga. Tradition has it that he was a member of the Boston Tea Party.

Mr. Hoyer, unlike his warlike ancestor, was a man of quiet and unassuming manner, preferring the companionship of his family circle, his few friends and his books, to other interests and amusements.

He was the son of Ambrose Hoyer, and was born in 1870. He was married May 12, 1891, to Miss Hattie Morang of Appleton, who died Jan. 7, 1902, and by whom he had two children, Walter Hoyer of Pawtucket, R. I. and Angie, now Mrs. Tyler Grace of Wilmot. In 1906 he married Miss Margaret MacNeill of Providence, who survives him.

The many beautiful floral tributes testified to the place he held in the hearts of his family and intimate circle of friends. His wife and family will never cease to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father.

Man is lucky, at that. He doesn't think of a suit as "this horrid old thing" after wearing it four times.—San Francisco Chronicle.

BEAUTY

Gleamy, Thick, Wavy
Hair in a Moment

Girls! Try this! When combing and brushing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Dandarine" and brush it through your hair. The effect is startling! You can dress your hair immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy, an abundance of gleamy, wavy hair, sparkling with life, incomparably soft, fresh, youthful.

Besides beautifying the hair, a 35-cent bottle of refreshing, fragrant "Dandarine" from any drug or toilet counter will do wonders, particularly if the hair is dry, thin, brittle, faded or streaked with gray from constant curling and waving which burn the color, luster and very life from any woman's hair.

"Dandarine" acts on the hair like fresh showers of rain and sunshine act on vegetation. It goes right to the root, invigorates, nourishes and strengthens them, stopping falling hair and helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant.

Mrs. D. N. Mortland, who has been making an extended tour of Europe sails for home Oct. 23. Mrs. A. W. Butler, who accompanied her through Italy, France and Switzerland, will spend the winter with the C. W. S. Cobbs in St. Louis it is understood.

A party of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Cora Dodge, James street, Monday evening, to help celebrate her birthday. Refreshments were served and Mrs. Dodge received many useful gifts. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Asa Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Dodge and daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Sabin, Mrs. Susie Strout, Mrs. C. M. Hennigar, Miss Alice Dodge, Miss Viva Lawry and Alice Milton.

Mrs. Emily C. Hitchcock was hostess at the Thorndike Hotel Tuesday at an enjoyable luncheon and auction, the guests numbering 12. The auction prizes were won by Miss Frances Mathews of Warren and Mrs. Mary Wignin Spear.

Dr. Franz Leyenberg of North Haven was in the city yesterday, accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. Zetterholm and Mr. and Mrs. Tim Olsen of Portland, who have been his guests for a few days. Rev. Mr. Zetterholm is pastor of Dr. Leyenberg's church in Portland.

Miss Florence Gifford, who has been a guest of the Frank W. Fullers for several weeks, leaves Friday for her home in Los Angeles, Calif.

Miss Hazel Spear has returned from Pasadena, Calif., where she has been making her home the past two years. She will remain in Rockland for the present.

George Hall and mother, Mrs. Ellen R. Hall, and Mrs. Edward Soper of Whitman, Mass., return today to North Scituate, Mass. They plan to go by way of the White Mountains where they will remain a short time before proceeding to Massachusetts. They were pleased with their recent trip into the Adirondacks. They visited Mrs. Soper's sister, Mrs. Seavey in Sherman Hills, quite all the time to other places, Houlton, etc. They saw potatoes, potatoes, everywhere, and although not a "bumper" crop this year, they are of good size, fair looking and bring good prices. Mt. Katahdin was snow-capped, and on their way to Sedgewick they encountered rain, considerable snow and hail. At this place they were guests of Mrs. Soper's mother, Mrs. Friend.

Tuesday was the 78th birthday of Mrs. Mary E. Perry of 170 Main street, and in honor of that anniversary there was a family gathering comprising Mrs. Perry, Miss Ada Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan F. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Romaine Q. Merriek and Miss Elmira Merriek. The birthday cake was a nice large one, but would scarcely accommodate quite all the 78 candles. Mrs. Perry was very generously remembered by friends at home and in Virginia and South Carolina, and enters upon her 79th milestone in excellent health and happily surrounded.

Mrs. Ada Bowler who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Cuddy the past two weeks, has returned to her home on Rankin street.

The Saturday Night Club dined deluxe at the Country Club, the high delicacy being black duck, the result of a Tunk Pond expedition by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McLoon, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Duff and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Spear. Unmindful of the raging storm, the congenial group was enjoying itself in accordance with its happy weekly custom in the cozy club rooms, when a terrific crash drew attention to the raging storm and ensuing darkness showed the trouble to be near at hand. The giant maple at the driveway entrance was shattered, completely blocking upper Maverick street. The lights soon flashed on and the club resumed its festivities to the tune of the ringing axes of the city and power company crews. The hosts of the eventful evening were Mr. and Mrs. Alan L. Bird, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McLoon and Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Smith.

SCHOOL AND KINDERGARTEN

Board of Education States Its Position On Matter of Ages.

The informal statement appended was presented to this paper by a member of the Rockland Board of Education and states the position of that group with some clarity on the matter of the ages at which children may enter kindergarten and first grade.

The school board at its meeting Monday night discussed the question of school ages, and voted to reaffirm the ruling which it has made for the past two years, (entrance to kindergarten, 4 years, 9 months, to first grade, 5 years, 9 months) unless otherwise instructed by the City Council. It found that if any change were to be made in the custom which has prevailed since the present eight grade system was established a decade ago, it would precipitate a question that would have to come before the city government in order that the necessary funds be provided. It would mean more teachers and more classrooms than are now available and the school board has at its disposal only such funds as the city government appropriates for school purposes. Besides in the opinion of the board it would mean a rearrangement of the present system, for if children were permitted to enter the first grade any younger (at 5 years) we would have pupils entering the High School at 13 and finishing the course at 15. It is the opinion of the present Board that these ages are too young to take advantage of the courses that the city is now providing.

Alfred Elden Tells About Thomaston's Boat Building Industry.

In the last issue of the Portland Sunday Telegram was an illustrated article on Thomaston, from the pen of Alfred Elden, a well known newspaper correspondent and fiction writer. The portion relating to boat building is of an especially timely character, and is here reproduced.

Boat-Building Industry

This quite naturally leads up to one of Thomaston's greatest industries—boat-building. I wonder how many Maine people realize what master boat-builders we have along the Maine coast? Their fathers built boats and so did their grandfathers. Most of the former boat-builders have gradually dropped out of sight, however. Many yards important at one time found the going too hard. Twenty-five years ago the advent of the motor craft gave small boat-building a new lease of life for a while.

But the craze for motor boating faded. Automobiles started it on the down slide—the World War finished it. Dozens of boat-builders left their trade and the trade of their fathers and grandfathers and sought their living in other lines of endeavor. A few of them stuck. Among them were the Morges.

Because of his reputation, long experience, the resources of his large plant and good location here at Thomaston, a very large business is undoubtedly done by Charles A. Morse and his son, Elmus. I had an interesting hour with the Morges. Incidentally, I wonder how many yachtsmen or others fairly familiar with coast affairs know that the famous Friendship sloop was originated by the Morges? If I have made any minor inaccuracies in what I am writing here it will be because there are so many Morges who build boats that it is hard to keep their affairs from interlocking.

"Yes, the Morges are boat builders," smiled Charles A. as he looked contemplatively out of an office window down the shimmering St. George River.

"Originally the name was DeMorse not Remorse—mind you. I recall seeing a deed to real estate in Bremen made out to my grandfather DeMorse. He bought the upper end of Bremen, Long Island. My father went there when I was six years old and built a log cabin home. The island is in the mouth of the Medonak River which extends into the coast to Waldoboro, so you see it was right in the heart of the boat building territory. Waldoboro at one time was about the most important shipbuilding center of the coast. Father went there as a shipbuilder in 1860. He was born in 1818. Let's see, it was in 1824 that he settled on Bremen, Long Island.

"I should say that it must have been 55 years ago that he built a 21-foot sloop. And right there was the beginning of the so-called Friendship sloop which, as you know, have become pretty famous for their trim model and seaworthiness. Soon there came to be big demand for these craft for lobster smacks. You had a lot of them at Portland at one time or at least they carried lobsters from all along the coast to the Portland wholesalers.

"I had the first boat shop of my own at Friendship about 30 years ago. I have been here around 14 years. It is a well equipped plant. You can see we have a lot of buildings and plenty of room. The only thing that is lacking is water at low tide. If only the government would do a little dredging here it would help out immensely.

"Over there on the bank hauled out for the winter is a pretty good example of one of the early Friendship sloops. That boat I built at Bremen—let's see, it was all of 38 years ago and perhaps more. Doesn't look it, does she? Well, the Morges have always prided themselves that when they put a boat together it will stay put unless some accident happened to her.

"I have a brother, Wilbur A. who is building boats at Friendship; another, Jonas D. who has a fine yard at Damariscotta, and still another, Abner F. at Cushing. He went there from Bremen and he has been building boats of all kinds for almost half a century."

Lying at the Morse wharf two other real Friendship sloops were grounded out by the tide, so a fine idea of the traditional construction could be had. Both of these boats were built nearly a quarter of a century ago and both were still in fine condition. Propellers at the stern indicated that they were auxiliary craft, as in fact most sailing boats are today.

"The Friendship sloop was hauled up on the beach, a craft of unusually heavy construction. Mr. Morse explained that he built her a good many years ago for a Monhegan fisherman, who like many others was distrustful of the reliability of the early gasoline motors. He insisted on a lot of iron on her keel and plenty of inside ballast. He also carried an anchor in the little sloop big enough to hold a lightsail.

He told Mr. Morse that off there on Monhegan if his motor went dead he didn't want to drift half way to Europe. So he had her built so heavy that her drift would be slow provided his great hook didn't hold her.

Some very interesting work is going on at this Morse yard. One of the noble craft nearing completion is a beam trawler or flounder dragger for Captain Boland of Boston. Her name is Pauline M. Boland and she is 32 feet long. The motive power is a 100-horsepower crude oil motor and it is figured that this can be run for not more than $125 an hour.

Another boat of similar type, only smaller, is for Captain Peter Sharper of West Sayville, Mass.; a 60-foot trawler. It is figured that the cost of operating this boat's crude oil motor will be not more than 60 cents an hour.

"I think this type of trawler is going to put the big otter or steam beam trawlers out of business," asserted Mr. Morse. "They are able enough to go anywhere and the cost of operating is nothing at all compared with the steam trawlers."

"They can make frequent trips to the fishing grounds and back and not be obliged to stay out until they have secured a trip of 200,000 to 300,000 pounds of fish as the big fellows do. More trips and better fish is what that means."

Fishermen know that with such enormous fares the bottom fish come out in poor shape. How can they help it, with all the tremendous weight of the others on top of them? Trawler captains themselves realize this and I am building these smaller boats for men who have skipped the great steam trawlers in the past."

It is gratifying to note that Charles A. Morse & Son have work enough ahead to keep a crew of perhaps 30 men busy right through the winter.

Portlanders will be interested to know that Capt. Archibald, who ran out of Portland for so many years on various steamers, including the Minicola, May Archer, Monhegan and others, is a Thomaston resident and still an active man of the sea. All summer long and up to October 1 he made a daily round trip from the wharf at Thomaston to Port Clyde, on Monhegan, then to Boothbay. He left the St. George River starting point around 7 and was back at his wharf shortly after 5 in the afternoon.

He told me rather an interesting thing in connection with Monhegan Island. It seems that native residents there have become quite enthusiastic over radio. Far out at sea, away from the disturbing high power circuits of the shore, reception is said to be wonderful.

Now the fishermen are up at 2 and 3 in the morning, eating their breakfasts before starting off to the fishing grounds. Not infrequently because of the difference in the time out on the Pacific coast it is possible for them to eat this early morning meal to the tones of late night orchestras playing in San Francisco. Think of that!

Little do the jazz musicians of the San Francisco hotels and mid-night-cafes realize that they are furnishing a syncretized Bohemian atmosphere to the hardy fisher folk of a Maine coast island!

There is a draw bridge across the St. George just beyond the Morse yard. It is an old and decidedly picturesque looking structure. Crossing it and climbing the hill to Brooklyn Heights one gets a splendid view of the surrounding country. The draw is seldom opened nowadays, although the bridge is navigable for small boats as far up the river as South Warren and Warren.

Two or three miles inland is another boat shop, the Russell Gray plant, where some splendid standard 28-foot cabin cruisers are being built. I was told that young Mr. Gray was the son of a railroad president, and was attracted to this section of the coast on summer vacations and liked it so well that he decided to embark in business here. He opened a boat building shop at Friendship, but later moved it to its present site on the St. George. In addition to the standardized product, which is proving very popular among yachtsmen, larger craft are also being built.

SOUTH THOMASTON

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sleeper left here Saturday morning for Boston, where they met their son Cleveland, Jr., who arrived on the Kentuckian, from a very interesting and instructive trip to the West Coast. He will go directly to Durham, N. H., where he will reenter the State College.

Mrs. Hattie Dean Martin and daughter, Margaret, from Seattle, Wash., called upon friends and relatives here Monday. Mrs. Martin was a former South Thomaston girl. Mrs. Edw. Hopkins entertained a jolly house party over Columbus Day, her sons, Summer and wife and Murray and Miss Kitty Brown of South Weymouth, and Mrs. Hopkins' sister and niece of Bear Point, N. S. Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Deane and son Lawrence spent the weekend at their summer home here.

In spite of the extremely inclement weather a merry party held a frankfort roast at the Ricker cottage, Pleasant Beach, Saturday night. The party included Mrs. Carolyn Davis, Charles Davis, Mrs. Lizette Rollins, G. B. Butler, Miss Susie Sleeper, A. C. Ricker and Miss Helen Sleeper.

Our pastor Mr. Winchenbaugh delivered a very interesting sermon Sunday evening to a good sized audience of Grangers. He had invited the local and three neighboring Granges to attend, and a very large number from Pleasant Valley was present. It is regretted that so few from the local Grange were able to be there.

Mrs. Charles Peterson accompanied Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sleeper to Boston Saturday where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. Pillsbury.

The first and second degrees were conferred upon Thomas Wentworth and Robert Williams, Jr., in Grange last Wednesday night. The harvest feast will not take place until Oct. 26. The lecturer, Mrs. Blanche Graves, prepared a fine program about Columbus for the last meeting.

Mrs. Lizette Rollins recently entertained the Outing Club from Rockland.

A. C. Ricker and Miss Helen Sleeper returned by auto to Massachusetts Monday afternoon after passing the weekend here.

Lemuel Grant has had electric lights installed in his new house.

Thursday Mrs. Winchenbaugh, Mrs. Harvey Hooper, Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Lizette Rollins were entertained by Mrs. Thomas in Bath.

This Thursday evening Mrs. L. G. Coombs opens her spacious home for a card party, the proceeds of which will go towards improving the roads in the cemetery. Refreshments will be served and no doubt a very enjoyable time will ensue. It is certainly a most worthy cause, and everyone should assist. Even if you do not play cards, every quarter helps.

Mrs. Lizette Rollins and Mrs. C. L. Sleeper were guests last Thursday of Mrs. C. A. Rose at luncheon at the Thorndike Hotel, and later attending the movies.

Mrs. Mary Bartlett from Camden has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bartlett.

VINALHAVEN

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pelkey and daughter, Dorothy, returned Friday from St. Petersburg, Fla., making the trip by auto.

Wednesday night a shower party was given Mr. and Mrs. Louis Merrill by Mrs. W. W. Merrill and Mrs. Blanchard Greenlaw, at the home of the former. The newlyweds are soon to commence house-keeping and were recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark of Wollaston, Mass., are camping at Silver Birch, on the Ames farm.

M. P. Smith returned Friday from Boston.

The American Legion will hold a big fair Nov. 11, at the net factory where there will be many tractions and plenty of room for all. Commander Wilbur Coombs, Jr., is chairman. The Vinalhaven Band will furnish music and there will be dancing in the evening.

Mrs. Alton Lewis of New York is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Black.

William Chiles was in Rockland Monday visiting his father, Charles Chiles.

A demonstrator of the Oldsmobile car, of Belfast, has been in town. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Beggs have returned to Bangor for the winter months.

Cards have been received from Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Robertson of Boston, announcing the engagement of their daughter Lillian to Kenneth W. Raymond of this town. Joseph Leopold of New York is in town on a business trip. Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Smith, entertained friends Sunday at the Red Lion.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Max Con- way entertained the Variety Club at

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.
